

Christmas

Are you making your plans for Christmas gifts? What would be more appropriate than one of CHARLES H. SAWYER'S Hand-Colored views of the White Mountains? Sawyer's love of nature, together with his great artistic skill, make these the most desired that can be obtained.

We also have a high-class assortment of landscapes by PLUMMER and BURROWES. Come in and look at them, or watch our show windows the coming week. These pictures, if seen, will speak for themselves.

We have these pictures in the following sizes, besides many odd sizes:

6x8 inches	10x12 inches
7x9 inches	12x14 inches
9x11 inches	14x17 inches

These are priced right, so do your shopping for these valuable gifts, before the very best ones are gone.

In the presentation of "The Dummy," a small audience at the Barre opera house last night witnessed a light comedy in four acts which is really clever in its power of amusement. A light plot running through the play kept the interest for the continual comic and slangy remarks of the Dummy. Between the acts songs were introduced, and several violin solos brought no little applause. Frank Urban's appearance in a vaudeville act was welcomed with applause. On the whole the show was a very enjoyable production, being made for so far Barre people by reason of the fact that two Barre men were playing in the cast, they being Lelloy and Charles E. Mills.

The well-known theatrical firm of Cumlinhan & Shannon has obtained the rights from William A. Brady to make a big scenic revival of "Way Down East," which will be seen for one performance at the opera house on Friday, Dec. 5. "Way Down East" was written 25 years ago by Lottie Blair Parker and has had a continuously successful run ever since. The play has been witnessed by over 20,000,000 people; its purity has become a proverb; the scenes, characters and story are not of the author's imagination, but are absolutely true to the country and the times of which they tell.—adv.

IMPORTANCE OF KEEPING HEALTH DURING WINTER

Colds and Diseases May Be Avoided If Blood Is Pure and System Is Kept at Highest Efficiency.

Do not let your blood get thin this winter. For people who have a tendency towards anemia, or bloodlessness, winter is a trying season. Lack of exercise and fresh air, and the more restricted diet, are among the many things that combine to lower the tone of the body and deplete the blood.

As soon as you notice the tired feeling, lack of appetite, and shortness of breath that are warning symptoms of thin blood take a short course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Do not wait until the color has entirely left your cheeks, until your lips are white, your eyes dull and your ears like mother of pearl. It is so much easier to correct thinning of the blood in the earlier stages than later.

This was well illustrated in the case of Mrs. Walter Donnellon, of No. 173 Beacon street, Clinton, Mass. "I suffered from anemia for a year," she says. "I became tired easily and had little color. My stomach was badly affected and I suffered from sharp pains after eating. Food seemed to gather in a heavy lump in my stomach and I felt very uncomfortable. I was tired all the time but couldn't sleep well because of the stomach pains."

"A friend recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to me. I procured a box and two weeks after I began the treatment I felt decidedly better. I continued taking the pills until I was able to do my work without fatigue. I have an excellent appetite now and can eat a large meal without stomach distress. I sleep well and feel rested in the morning. I strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to everyone in need of a tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. In this way the general health is improved, the appetite increased, the digestion is restored and new ambition and energy developed. Work becomes easier because it does not cause exhaustion.

Keep your system at its highest efficiency with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the great blood builder and nerve tonic. Your own druggist can supply you at 60 cents per box. A booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be mailed free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. It is well worth studying by all who do not enjoy complete health.—Adv.

WILLIAMSTOWN

Mrs. E. J. Clogston Died Dec. 1 in Belmont, Mass.

Robert E. Clogston received a telegram yesterday informing him of the death of his aunt, Mrs. Martha Clogston, of Williamstown. Mrs. Clogston, who was 82 years of age, died at the home of her daughter, Bertha, Mrs. Joseph G. Reynolds, Jr., in Belmont, Mass. This is the third death in that family in a little more than a year, the first to go being the only son, Jean Clogston, of pneumonia, following the "flu" at Camp Devens in the fall of 1918. This was followed in January, 1919, by the sudden death of the father, Elwin J. Clogston, by a shock, he being at that time postmaster. A few days after the death of her husband, Mrs. Clogston went to Belmont to live with her daughter, where she died Dec. 1, as above stated. The funeral will be held there, with burial in the family lot at Northfield on Wednesday, the 3d, at 11 o'clock a. m. There will be a short service at the burial. Mrs. Clogston was formerly Miss Martha Graves and, with her parents, lived as a girl on the hill farm overlooking Adna Downer's place, now owned by Mrs. Martha Wales. A brother, Dr. Graves, is living in the west.

The next meeting of the Home Study club will be held with Mrs. Musette H. Seaver on Thursday afternoon next. This is a domestic science meeting and each member is requested to tell of some labor-saving device in her own home, and to bring her favorite recipe. All come with notebook and pencil. Masons are requested to meet in their hall next Thursday at 12 o'clock to attend the funeral of our brother, N. R. Farnham.

The meeting of the Woman's Relief corps next Thursday afternoon for the election of officers. Members please make special effort to attend.

Miss Mildred Gearson is seriously ill at the home of her parents, and is cared for by a trained nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Pickel are at work for Fred Allen.

James Sivert, Forrest Cram and Leand Little have gone deer hunting.

TUNBRIDGE

The name of the lecturer, Miss Gladys Ballou, was omitted last week from the list of newly elected grange officers.

Mrs. Henrietta F. Dimond and Curtis E. Brown were married on Thanksgiving day at the home of H. A. Aldrich, Sharon.

The evangelistic meetings continue at the Baptist church to and including Thursday evening. First at the Congregational church Friday evening.

High Lynn and company have recently related the foundation to their storage building and horse sheds opposite the store.

The local Woodmen camp, No. 15, 674, has recently tendered a little neighborly assistance to Charles Morrill, who has endured sorrow and misfortune.

The lady waiters (local talent) appear Friday evening of this week, instead of Tuesday.

Eulogy to Rose (Beede) Allen.

We are all speeding down life's rugged pathway in these modern days with such alacrity and such unconcern for our immediate surroundings or happenings that unless the incident of the moment comes within our own radius of sphere, we perchance, hardly notice it and if we mention at all the passing incident, it is but casually and lightly. Such is the trend of the present day times.

You have already taken note in this publication of the 17th ultimo of the passing of our dear sister Allen, to her reward in Heaven and many comforting, consoling words have been spoken verbally and in print for which we who sorrow and mourn the loss of this dear one are most grateful.

The purpose of these few added words is to express to those most sorely afflicted by this transmission and act of the Divine Providence what we feel in our heart of hearts for them and also a fitting tribute to this departed one.

We know her wish was, her Heavenly Father willing and health permitting, to have sojourned a little longer here with us, for she felt she was needed, but God's will was her choice and thus she passed peacefully and resignedly to her Maker, whom we know she loved and faithfully served.

What a living exponent of self sacrifice was this life! Like the modern electric generator, always giving off of itself, repeatedly doing for others, willingly, lovingly. 'Twas not of her to shine as a great reformer, or please the rabble by her great attainments, but like the lowly Jesus, delighted to use her influence for the best in life. She like her sainted mother, who passed on some years ago, shone brightest in her home, with her companion and children, for whom she was ready and willing to sacrifice all to their comfort and enjoyment. They may well plan their future lives by her sainted example.

To her many friends, who will certainly miss her cheery face in the places that will know her no more here below, the dear, encouraging words of her pastor, Rev. Leigh of the Baptist church, are most fitting here: "Our dear sister has just crossed over the river and is sleeping in those loving, tender arms. Could she speak to you to-day, she would say, 'Meet me over there.'"

Although she was named for the sweetest of flowers, her pathway was never strewn with roses, yet she never complained or faltered in the path of duty. Those blessed words of the Master concerning Mary of old and which were her mother's chosen words, are equally appropriate in this case, "She hath done what she could."

Let this epitaph, which was placed on the tombstone of one some years ago, who was called at the zenith of her usefulness to her eternal home, be to "Our Dear Rose" a lasting memorial: "Rest in peace, dear Rose, Life's trials, they are o'er; Thou hast crossed the dark, cold river, Thou hast reached the shining shore." Her Brother.

PLAINFIELD

"Fighting in France," in moving pictures, with a special lecture by one of New England's foremost lecturers, George M. Bragg. This wonderful production will be exhibited at Plainfield Wednesday night, Dec. 3, one night only, rain or shine; a picture that everyone should see, one that will live in your mind forever. The greatest mothers' picture ever made, taken right on the battlefield in France. This attraction comes here highly recommended by both press and public and will prove the best that ever came to this vicinity, having just completed a tour of the large cities. We are now here at your very door with no advance in prices. Doors open at 7:15 p. m.; starts at 7:15 sharp.—adv.
